

Consider the given text ('text'). Consider each character (including spaces, punctuation and newline) as sampled from a space of characters \mathcal{A}_X with a given probability.

- Compute the Shannon entropy of the text
- Find a Huffman code for the characters.
- Compute the code length.